NEW YORK, Sept. 7--(INS) The S. S. Transylvania has reached the point from which the crew of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Old Glory sent their hurried S O S call for help early today, and no sign of the plane has yet been found. This was revealed shortly before noon today when Captain David Bone of the liner reported

Editor Coolly Read Before Hop Into Unknown Perils Over Sea With First Films to Fly Toward Europe

UNSHAKEN BY DANGERS
Phil Payne, editor of the New York Daily Mirror and director for Mr. Hearst of Old Glory's flight, nonchalantly reads a Cosmopolitan Magazine while standing with Mrs. Bertaud just before the hopoff from Old Orchard, Me.

PHOTOGRAPHERS CATCHING LAST "SHOT" OF OLD GLORY

As Old Glory got under way above the surf at Old Orchard Beach, photographers for various newspapers and film pictorials caught their final "snaps" at her. Aboard were Bertaud, Hill and Payne, venturing forth into what? Today the sea is being combed by ships for trace of the plane which sent an S O S, the sea's cry for aid, from approximately 500 miles off the farthestmost tip of Newfoundland's long arm. The distress signal came only a few moments after the plane had signalled "All well!" indicating some ominous false speedy overtook her.

FIRST "NEWSREELS" TO START AIR VOYAGE
Mr. Payne shown receiving from W. J. Hearfield of M-G-M News a packet of M-G-M News pictures to be delivered to Premier Mussolini of Italy as part of an arrangement with the Hearst organization for an exchange of news pictures with Italy. The films were the first to start a transatlantic flight.

LINER FINDS NO TRACE OF OLD GLORY AT S O S SPOT

this position without results, now proceeding toward point in which plane seen by California. Have advised all ships," he wireless.

Hope that the plane would be able to remain afloat for any length of time was practically shattered by the captain's statement that the sea was rough and being whipped up by a fresh west-by-south wind.

At 3:17, G. M. T., Wednesday, heard signal from plane WRHP, Old Glory airplane," Captain Bone reported in his radio. "The call merely said: 'S O S. Five hours out of Newfoundland, east.'

The Transylvania proceeded immediately toward estimated position," the captain's dispatch continued. "Position estimated as latitude 49:30 north, longitude 41:30 west. No further signals were heard. An continuing search. Fresh west by south wind and rough sea prevailing. Barometer 29.50, rising slowly. Bone."

Captain Bone's statement that the hurried message from Old Glory gave the plane's position as "five hours out of Newfoundland, east" was the first indication that Lloyd Bertaud and James D. Hill, the pilots, had been able to do more than flash the dreaded S O S call.

The manner in which the position was given, it was pointed out here, indicated that the aviators and their passenger, Philip Payne, were not certain of their exact location, or they would have attempted to give it in latitude and longitude. The position was estimated by navigators through radio findings.

It was regarded as impossible for Old Glory, a land plane, to remain afloat in a heavy sea for more than a few minutes. The equipment, however, included a rubber boat and a life raft.

4 Ships Pick Up Old Glory SOS and Rush to Search for Plane

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—A wire from the Transylvania Old Glory, sent out during the early morning hours of darkness, when the apparently some 500 miles east-northeast of the tip of Newfoundland on her trip from Old Orchard, Me., to Boston.

Beyond the fact that her crew of three adventurous aviators—Lloyd Bertaud, James D. Hill and Philip Payne—were in the grip of some tragedy over the trackless waste of water, no details were given.

Within a few minutes of receipt of the S O S, several ships, obeying the immutable law of the sea, were rushing under full steam towards the estimated position of the transatlantic airplane.

The Radio Corporation of America at 3:15 p. m., Eastern daylight time, dispatched a radio message from the Shipping Board freighter Capitán sent at 3:15 p. m., Eastern standard time.

It was deduced that the reference to the Old Glory having "no aerial" meant that the plane's trailing antenna was put out of commission if the plane did fall into the ocean.

BERTAUD OWED FACILITY WITH RADIO TO HIS WIFE

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Lloyd Bertaud, who crashed Old Glory's S O S today, owed his facility at the radio largely to his wife.

In June, when it appeared that Bertaud would accompany Clarence D. Chamberlain on the transatlantic flight of the Columbia, Mrs. Bertaud kept after him to learn broadcasting from a plane.

Night after night, while the Bertauds were living at their hotel in Garden City, Long Island, he spent hours learning the continental code on an automatic sounder. Mrs. Bertaud tapped out messages to her husband. He thought it a great feat. The guests at the hotel, however, hearing the continued tapping, night after night, did not think it was a joke and protested to the management.

This did not disturb Mrs. Bertaud, who continued her telegraphic conversations. Bertaud had no other recourse but to learn the code so that he could understand her messages. As a result, the aviator became very proficient.

OLD GLORY HAS COLLAPSIBLE LIFEBOAT

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—A collapsible rubber lifeboat, an emergency dump valve, in its gasoline tanks and a supply of flares and rockets carried by the monoplane Old Glory were cited by aviation officials here today as the basis for the belief that the occupants of the plane had a chance of saving themselves if they were forced down at sea.

Lloyd W. Bertaud, one of the pilots on the plane, tested the boat in Long Island sound a few weeks ago when it was found to operate satisfactorily. The boat can hold at least two men.

The boat was carried in a bag and was placed in the plane within easy reach of the crew. The boat is inflated by an air pump and is propelled by collapsible oars.

The main gas tank, with a capacity of 120 gallons, could be emptied and filled with air in 45 seconds by means of an emergency valve which can be operated from the pilot's or the navigator's compartments. In an emergency landing on water the inflated tank has a buoyancy equal to two tons and would keep the ship afloat for some time.

Although flares and rockets were carried on the Old Glory it was thought they would be of little service since day was breaking at sea when the plane sent out its distress call.

Who's Who in Crew of Old Glory

By Associated Press.

Lloyd W. Bertaud, navigator and co-pilot—Air mail pilot on New York-Cleveland route; received pilot's license in 1914 and was engaged in army and stunt flying before entering air mail service; was named by Charles A. Levine as navigator on monoplane Columbia for transatlantic flight, but broke with Levine after a dispute before the Columbia took off; Bertaud was born at Alameda, Calif.; 31 years ago; in 1922 he married Miss Helen Lent of New York in an airplane above New York city.

J. DeWitt Hill, pilot—Air mail pilot on New York-Cleveland route; was personal representative in the flight preparations for William Randolph Hearst, backer of the project; he is manager-editor of the New York Mirror and has been engaged in newspaper work since he was 15 years old, holding positions in Perth Amboy, N. J., Hudson, N. J., Chicago and New York; served overseas with the Knights of Columbus during the World War after his first flight, Helen DeWitt of Jersey City, N. J., died, he married Dorothy Hughes.

"COOLIDGE THRILL" MAKES WOMAN FAINT AT TEA

Hartford City, S. D., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Her faint at a tea of the Forthright Club is explained by Mrs. M. W. Farnsworth as due to the prospect of meeting the wife of the President.

It was especially unfortunate because Mrs. Coolidge had new clothes from the East, never worn before—a hat, jeweled rings and a jade green coat.

OLD GLORY IN DISTRESS FAR OUT OVER ATLANTIC

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1927

Proudly Old Glory took the air at Old Orchard, Me., bearing the three men who ventured into the unknown perils of the air that new glory might be won to the flag they flew. Today she signalled an S O S call.

F. A. Payne Lloyd Bertaud Fr. Mullins

A few minutes before the take-off Philip A. Payne, director of the Old Glory flight for Mr. Hearst, Lloyd Bertaud, one of the pilots, and Father Mullin posed for a final picture. Bertaud is getting into his flying togs.

Mrs. Philip A. Payne Mrs. Florence Callaghan Mrs. Lloyd Bertaud.

LETTERS TO BE READ HIGH IN THE AIR

Sitting on the sands of Old Orchard Beach, the wife of the director of "Old Glory's" flight, the mother (Mrs. Callaghan) and wife of Pilot Bertaud penned messages of affection for the daring fliers to read when far aloft.

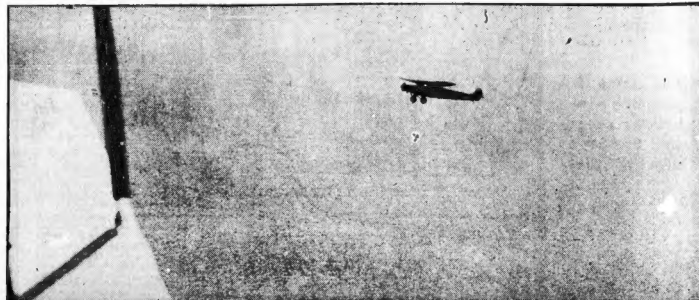

Lloyd Bertaud with his wife and mother snapped a few minutes before the start of the Rome flight. Bertaud is kissing his wife farewell. Both mother and wife smilingly bade the famous birdman godspeed. They gave their kin farewell notes to be read as the giant plane winged its way eastward. They had penned the notes as final preparations were made for the daring flight across the Atlantic and over a big slice of Europe.

Today the wife and mother, and Mrs. Payne, were advised while in New Haven en route back to New York, that some mishap had befallen Old Glory. They bore up bravely, but all of them were fearfully apprehensive as the hours dragged with no further word.

The Rev. James J. Malley, pastor of St. Margaret's Church at Old Orchard, Me., blessing Old Glory, just before big monoplane took off from the beach.

As William Randolph Hearst's big Fokker, Old Glory, looked sailing above the Atlantic far out to sea. This photograph was the last made as the big plane "struck her stride" and hummed away at 100 miles an hour. Photos are by International Newsreel.

This shows the guard of Maine State police assembled at Old Orchard Beach to keep the crowd back as Old Glory hopped off for Rome. The State troopers posed in front of the giant monoplane a few minutes before the successful take off was made and the plane lifted gracefully.

ROYAL WINDSOR AT HARBOR GRACE, N. F.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Sept. 7 (I.N.S.)—The Canadian monoplane Royal Windsor landed at Harbor Grace Flying Field at 1:50 p. m. Boston daylight saving time, today.

The Royal Windsor, owned by the late John C. King, was piloted by a 5 m. The plane's pilots, both Canadians, are C. A. "Duke" Schilling and Phil Wood, bound from Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, King.

When they landed they found nothing of the distress call from Old Glory, but learned of them when they arrived at Harbor Grace.

"Windsor is just" in the slogan of the Royal Windsor's woman crew. Both after landing here the co-pilots began refueling and other such preparations for the hopscotch across the Atlantic in the wake of the Sir John Carling and on the faithful path of Old Glory.

Good jobs do not wait the street. They are laid in the Boston American Classified Ads. See Help Wanted—Classifications 20 and 52.

Flights at a Glance

(By Associated Press)

Old Glory, on route to Rome, flashed an S O S shortly before daylight. Then came complete silence. She was estimated about 500 miles off Newfoundland. Nearby steamers reported the night very dark, with big waves and bad wind. Several steamers started for rescue, with nearest one estimated about 55 miles away.

The Sir John Carling hoped for the transatlantic flight from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to London at 8:25 Boston Daylight Saving Time.

The Royal Windsor, Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, England, arrived at Harbor Grace from Old Orchard, N. F., at 1:50 p. m. Boston Daylight Saving Time.

The Pidge of Detroit reached Rangoon, Burma, at 7:30 in the afternoon, Burma time, on the round-the-world flight.

The Columbia's flight from England to New York was postponed until tomorrow.

The Flying Whale, at Coruna, Spain, set tomorrow for resumption of its flight westward across the Atlantic.

DR. WISE QUILTS ZION PARLEY

Basle, Switzerland, Sept. 7 (Jewish Telegraph Agency)—A rift in the political congress of the fifteenth Zionist congress here resulted in the resignation of Dr. Stephen S. Wise of New York from the chairmanship of the committee and his heavy departure from Basel to return to the United States.

This rift had a direct bearing on the relations between the World Zionist organization and Great Britain as the mandatory power for Palestine.

TWO BADLY INJURED IN BLAST ON SLOOP

New Bedford, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Captain Otis Berg of the auxiliary freight sloop Starboard Rock was blown overboard and Alfred Marks of the crew was burned seriously today when gasoline being loaded into the vessel's tanks exploded.

Marks was in his bunk while the explosion was going on. He struck a match to light a cigarette and apparently ignited fumes which had seeped into the cabin from the tanks. He ran on deck with his clothes in flames and leaped overboard.

MABEL T. FLY FROM U. S. N LEVINE SHIP

London, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Miss Mabel Bell, the American girl who pleaded unavailingly with Charles A. Levine and Captain Walter Hinchcliffe to take her with them on their projected transatlantic flight in the airplane Columbia, announced today that she was going to get a chance to fly back to England from the United States.

Miss Bell stated at her hotel here this afternoon that arrangements had been completed for her to fly with Hinchcliffe on the return journey to the Columbia.

Miss Bell was present with Levine when Levine was present with this state.

She said that Levine had refused to accept a penny, but that she had given Hinchcliffe "a nice present." She indicated that she had a large sum of money. Miss Bell is leaving for America a week from Sunday.

Levine again postponed his start to America today.

THEATRES PAY LOW TRIBUTE

Motion picture theatres in Boston, New England and Canada will join in the nation-wide closing tomorrow and the day after tomorrow in tribute to the memory of Marcus Loew, one of the greatest figures in the motion picture industry has ever known, and whose death occurred yesterday at his home on Long Island, N. Y.

Notices to this effect have been sent out by the New England Film Board of Trade of Boston, together with a tribute to Mr. Loew.

As a further tribute the orchestras and organs of every theatre will play at the opening of the first performance "Let's Kindly Light," which was Mr. Loew's favorite tune.

6,000 TEAMSTERS START STRIKE IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Between 6,000 and 7,000 teamsters and truckmen went on strike today in an effort to enforce demands for a wage increase and shorter hours. A union representative announced that the strike would not affect express companies or the movement of produce to and from the central markets, but might spread to long-haulmen. An agreement was reached for an average wage of $10 a week and a nine-hour day. Sept. 1, and the truckmen seek a new agreement, providing for an average wage of $12 a week and an eight-hour day.

MRS. LAWRENCE RITES FRIDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Julia Lawrence, wife of Bishop William Lawrence, who died in her home at Brookline after a long illness, will take place Friday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Paul's Cathedral, according to the Diocesan House today. Details of the services were not decided on at this time.

Mrs. Curley Convalescing

Mrs. James M. Curley, wife of the former mayor of Boston, was sitting up today and recovering rapidly after her summer home in Hull from the effects of a serious operation.

It began AT A WORKBENCH

In the early sixties a young man bent over his cobbler's last in a tiny shop on Greenwich Street, New York, often far into the night . . .

Now in 1927 that tiny shop has grown to be the largest single shoe store in the world! The Coward Shoe Store in Boston follows next in size.

That's progress. That's the story of a young man who stuck to his last.

For James Coward was determined that the shoes he sold should be comfortable shoes, that their leathers and workmanship should be honest and their prices just. So he made them himself.

As it was in the beginning, so it has been all along. Now it takes many men to do what James Coward once did alone. But his precepts of quality, comfort and value have ever been the beacon light in the growth of this business. In fact, they have been the very reason for it!

Leadership has come. The Coward Shoe is known world-wide and today more than ever these standards are zealously guarded. Now in the third generation of proprietorship, The Coward Shoe is a gift in every sense. The Coward Shoe. It is regarded as a name to live up to—not a reputation to trade upon.

And this great shoe store, with its almost limitless range of styles, sizes and widths of shoes, to provide comfort for practically every foot, is but the physical realization of an earnest young cobbler's ideal.

U. S. SAFE FROM AERIAL ATTACK, SAYS WILBUR

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 7 (A.P.)—Failure of several recent transatlantic flights have proved that the United States comparatively is safe from long distance aerial attacks, in the opinion of Curtis D. Wilbur, secretary of the Navy.

"Look at what has actually happened in the last few weeks," Secretary Wilbur said here, while en route from the Pacific Coast naval base to Gulf Point.

"No one has recently made the crossing from Europe or England to this side. And the planes that have made the attempt were not carrying bombs. They were stripped down to the last ounce and carried every drop of gasoline possible."

"It might be possible for a three-motor plane to cross and drop a few small bombs on some city, but such a raid would be ineffective from a strategic viewpoint."

"There is one phase of naval development in connection with aviation to which the public has paid little attention and in which America is leading the world. This is in our two airplane carriers, the Lexington and Saratoga, which will be completed, one in October and the other in January. If the carriers are carried out."

"No other navy has ships like these. Each has 180,000 horsepower, the highest ever built. How immense this power is can be understood from the fact that the horsepower of the two carriers puts that of a single destroyer equal to within five years the United States Navy will have one thousand airplanes equal to, if not better, than the highest number ever built. GOOD WEATHER TO HANG ON

With Boston reported as the hottest city in New England today, at the comfortable temperature of 79 degrees, the weather man again promises a spell of good weather for the next few days.

The area of high pressure, responsible for the comfort here, closes along the Atlantic coast and today was reinforced by another high pressure area in the Lake region. The coolest spot in New England was Northfield, Vt., with a temperature of 45 degrees.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Fair tonight and Thursday. Slightly cooler with moderate to fresh west winds.

CLINE ON TRIAL FOR SLAYING HIS FRIEND

Rockville, Ct., Sept. 7 (I.N.S.)—Ever known a man as grim as his son? So it was with Cline, now on trial in Superior Court today as the slayer of his friend, Wilfred P. Irwin, also an author.

But Cline was as unperturbed as one of his own heroes when he took the stand in the courtroom.

Reception of a jury was begun from a panel of 100 summoned before Judge Edward M. Youmans. The trial is expected to last a week.

Offer $1,000 Bill to Pay Rum Fine and Are Arrested

Roderick D. MacLean of Webster street, Newton, and Harry Moller of Beach street, Revere, fined $200 in Boston District Court today for illegal transportation of liquor, started attacks by presenting a $1,000 bill in payment.

They enjoyed their joke but a short time, however, for immediately after the fine was paid Deputy U. S. Marshal Joseph Huston stepped in and arrested the men again, taking them to Boston.

Four men who were captured with MacLean and Moller, unloaded 4,000 bottles of liquor in Needham from a freight car supposed to contain hay, defaulted and escaped were issued for their arrest. They are Harry Chapman and Harry Levine of Boston, Frank Smith of Nantasket, and Arthur Howe of Somerville.

WORLD FLIERS AT RANGOON IN BURMA

Rangoon, Burma, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—William S. Brock and Edward P. Robles in the Pidge of Detroit arrived here at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon from Calcutta, India, on their round-the-world flight.

The Pidge of Detroit landed on the main course here. She covered the distance from Calcutta at an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

The aviators reported that half an hour after their departure from Calcutta they encountered bad monsoon weather, with strong winds and continuous heavy rains for two and one-half hours. Later they found the weather more good. The machine behaved well. The fliers plan to continue their journey tomorrow.

Smart Set Members Return From Europe Aboard French Boat

THE names of Colonel George Eddy Warren and the Chester D. Johnstones are inscribed on the passenger list of the Ile de France.

THE Eugene S. Graves family of Providence wound up their summer of foreign travel by coming aboard the Ile de France. The Graves' entourage included the two sons, E. H. Graves and Robert N. Graves, and went over in the early summer to favorite foreign playgrounds. Dr. William Greenough Thayer, headmaster of St. Mark's in Southern, brought his family back from a summer in Europe. Mrs. Thayer and John G. Thayer were in the group.

BREAKING OUT WITH superlatives has become a habit when speaking of North Shore affairs. They fit perfectly the fourth and final subscription musicale at Stillington Hall. In theatrical parlance, both John Charles Thomas, baritone, and Charles Naegele, pianist, "stopped the show." Both young men had to come out again and again as applause shook the stout and beautifully appointed auditorium of the turreted Stillington. Of course, the audience was smart, interesting and extremely decorative.

MRS. M. GRAEME HATCHISON, who took a large company on to the palatial Houghton home for supper after the musicale, was in ivory chiffon, beneath a wrap that gleamed out crystal ornaments against a black satin background. Mrs. William Stuart Forbes wore a handsome rose satin gown and a wrap of rose and black. Mrs. Harrison Carter's tulle velvet wrap was lustrous beneath the hooded lilies. That shed soft glow over the Stillington audience. Mrs. Jonathan May's moody frock of misty black took brilliance from rhinestones in curious design.

MRS. GEORGE LANE'S FAMILY party included Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean in sequined frock. Miss Katharine Lane's coat gleamed with metal against Mrs. May's moody frock. Mrs. May's moody frock of misty black took brilliance from rhinestones in curious design.

2 DYING FROM STAB WOUNDS IN LOVE ROW

Middleboro, Sept. 7.—Little Eleanor Beals started to school today for her first day, but never reached there. Instead, she was rushed to St. Luke's Hospital with her grandmother, both dying from stab wounds alleged to have been inflicted by an enraged, rejected suitor of Eleanor's mother.

An armed posse, made up of eight Middleboro policemen, eight State troopers and a group of men from the town, is scouring and searching roads for Charles Giovannetti, also known as Charles Young, of Gardner court, Boston.

He is the man declared by the 14-year-old girl to have attacked her in front of the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Carrie Paquerello, at No. 47 Vine street.

Five times the alleged attacker stabbed the girl, then when she fell and her screams brought her grandmother to the door, he is alleged to have leaped from the prostrate body of the girl and to have pursued the frightened grandmother back to the kitchen, where he stabbed her twice before fleeing.

Last April Giovannetti was charged with assaulting the girl's mother while armed, after she refused to run away with him. He subsequently served a term in Plymouth Jail.

Beals told police today that Giovannetti reappeared at the Beals home two weeks ago and raged about the house.

After that incident, Beals said, he sent his wife to friends in South Carver for safety's sake, and she was there today.

den or a dark horse, who will it be?

Labor Day is past, and now begins the real new year, for those that will get ahead, all the glorious "go getter" family. Everything seems cheerful in the world of business, every prospect pleasing.

Wall Street gentlemen that toll not, neither do they spin, yet make Solomon in all his glory look like an odd lot buyer, want to bed last night as happy as so many Sinbads in the Diamond Valley. A Stock Exchange seat had sold for $250,000, a new high price, and a long line of stocks had established new high price records, "spontaneously."

The public "came in" shaking their woolly locks at the ticker, and poor bears were cuffed around by General Motors, U. S. Steel, railroads, industrials, etc., once more.

The Treasury makes clear its opinion that a long period of "easy plentiful money" is ahead. The business boom season of 1927-28 now starts. The wise man will also start.

Innocent George Bernard Shaw, who has not kept up with his period, says people don't run their government any more than an audience manages the theatre. The people "out pick the ruler."

They do nothing of the kind. They vote when voting time comes, and gentlemen representing industrial and financial genius "pick the ruler" for whom the people shall vote.

It is not a thing to worry you. Power always rules, and at this moment, power resides in industry and finance. They rule here, in every European country except Russia, and will soon rule there.

It is inevitable and perhaps the best possible arrangement. Providence knows best.

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

In the next issue, Mr. Whitehead will explain the subtle points in the bidding and play of the above hand. Fill out your own chart and compare it with his method.

Yesterday's Hand as Played by Mr. Whitehead

South's Points of the Bidding

North's Point in Clubs showed normal strength in the suit as well as side tricks, justifying the bid at two. No Trumps by South, though he held but one stoppage in hearts.

Solent Points of the Play

Trick 1. Upon the spread of Dummy's hand, Declarer saw good prospects for a Small Slam. With apparently a solid Club suit of six cards and five top cards otherwise, but one other trick was needed, which could doubtless be obtained by finesse or through forced discards. Conceding one trick at once, Declarer plays low to West's King of hearts.

Trick 3. West's holding of all the outstanding Clubs effectively dashed Declarer's vision of more than game on the hand. A revised estimate, based upon West's original holding of five hearts and four Clubs, showed that game was still possible.

Trick 4. Incidental to his scheme of play, Declarer takes the high finesse, still holding command of the suit.

Trick 5. West is compelled to discard a heart to protect his twice guarded King of Clubs.

Trick 10. West is thrown in and forced later to give Declarer two Club tricks for game on the hand.

GOVERNOR RAPS AUTO DISPETE

ELOPES TO BE MAMA TO 7

A veiled thrust at Register of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin and Judge Robert Waleott of Cambridge District court, who have been engaging in a wordy row over automobile cases, was seen today in a statement by Governor Fuller in which he urged all citizens to co-operate to reduce highway accidents.

"The greatest advance in safety measures can be secured only by the greater co-operation of the citizen," Governor declared. "Automobiles are at all times working effectively, he declared, and he called attention to the designation of the period, September 12 to 24, for a safety drive by motor clubs and allied organizations.

These questions of policy should be considered, the Governor declared. Should the age minimum of drivers be raised from sixteen to eighteen years? Should driving examinations be more rigid? Should police make a survey of drivers every five years? Should motor laws be generally more drastic?

SACCO'S ASHES TO BE BURIED IN MALDEN

The ashes of Nicola Sacco will be buried in Malden, Mass., today, according to the plan of the defense committee, who declared today that Sacco's will be buried in this country and Vanetti's in Italy.

MRS. CURTIS IS OUSTED AS TRUSTEE

THREE ESTATES RETURNED IN OIL SUITS

Mrs. Margaret M. Curtis, widow of Edwin U. Curtis, former Mayor of Boston, was today removed as co-trustee of her husband's estate in a decree handed down by Judge Arthur W. Dolan of Suffolk County Probate Court, as "evidently unsuitable for the faithful discharge of the trust."

Judge Dolan also entered a decree removing Mrs. Curtis from her position as co-trustee of the estate of her husband, as "evidently unsuitable for the faithful discharge of the trust."

The action for the removal of Mrs. Curtis as co-trustee of her husband's estate was brought by a daughter, Miss Penelope Curtis who has since married.

In asking for the removal, Mrs. Curtis claimed her mother refused to co-operate with Nelson Curtis, the co-trustee, and upon having the bank with the bank not to honor and check signed by him, as a result the daughter claimed, she was unable to get any money from her father's estate.

During one of the hearings, Mrs. Curtis said she did not approve of her daughter's activities. She declared she had tried to do what was best for her children's welfare and interests.

CHAPMAN'S PAL FAIR

IN PAROLE PETITION

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 1 (A.P.)—The state parole board today denied the petition of Walter E. Shaw of Springfield for parole from Wethersfield prison, where he is serving a term of five years for burglary and carrying a revolver. Shaw was an accomplice of Gerald Chapman, who was hanged for the murder of a woman in 1924.

Story of a Girl Who Did Just What She Chose and Then Took Flight

Emily Dunne, care-free and wealthy leader of the young set, disappears on the eve of her wedding to Rodney Sayre, son of old New England family. She had rushed from her wedding rehearsal with Polly Pennington to visit Mrs. Kitty Laurence in the maternity hospital. They never reached the hospital, Jim Pennington later told a worried nuptial party. Polly was found dead at the bottom of a ravine. Where was Emily?

Emily's cultivation of mysticism, then the fad, and the exclusion of her teacher, Swami Lal Singh, from her will upon her marriage, directed first suspicion toward the Hindu. Detective Fleming Stone, engaged by Sayre to pierce the mystery, found his first tangible clue in New York.

BUILDING PROJECT FOR MILITARY TRAINING

The immediate start on a $3,000,000 permanent building project at Camp Devens for military training purposes and as a part of a long-term construction program by the army for the entire country was announced today by Brigadier General William E. Horton at a luncheon given in his honor at Hotel Statler by members of Cross-Country Post, American Legion.

General Horton, who as a colonel in the First Cavalry, was recently assigned to the post at Camp Devens, will be in charge of the construction project. The sum of $3,000,000 will be spent at once at Camp Devens on a building project for military training purposes and as a part of a long-term construction program by the army for the entire country.

FRICITION OVER BAY STATE DRY REFERENDUM

Fricition between the Liberal Civic League and the Constitutional Liberty League broke out today over the filing with the Secretary of State of two initiative petitions seeking to ascertain the will of the voters on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment in the event that the proposal is rejected by the Legislature.

At the secretary's office, it was said today, both questions will go on the ballot, provided sufficient signatures are secured, and the petitioners not enacted into law. Attorney-General Arthur K. Beattie has approved the form of the two instruments.

The Liberal Civic League was the first to file and is preparing, it is understood, to protest against the appearance of the same question being added by the Constitutional Liberty League, on the ground it would tend to confuse the electorate.

The original signers of the petition filed by the Liberal Civic League are William H. Mitchell, Conrad C. Curran, James E. Allen, Charles E. Redden, John Ross, Francis H. Boyle, Edwin E. Prior, Walter E. Gordon and Walter R. H. W. of Melrose.

The "second petition" is signed by Charles S. Barkensted of Milton, Francis H. Barnes of Boston, Julian Coleman of Haverhill, Robert D. Winthrop of Cambridge, Malcolm T. Fishery of Scituate, Orla T. Russell of Cambridge and P. G. R. Gordon of Haverhill.

GIRL ELOPER WITH BOSS

What at first was believed to have been an abduction, with pretty Elizabeth Casella, 17, of No. 320 Washington street, Jamaica Plain, as the victim, turned out according to police today, to be an elopement with her 42-year-old employer, S. Hampden, wealthy contractor of Boston.

The parents of the girl, also convinced their daughter has eloped with her employer, have asked the police to find them and prevent their marriage, if possible. The parents' statement is based on the difference in ages.

The contractor and his strong rather have been gone since Monday night, the police say.

Accompanied by another girl, they went to Salem, N. H., to attend the funeral of a friend, it was learned, Boston Monday evening when the second girl returned to her home.

To Pay Gen. Wood's Expenses
Manila, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—The Philippine senate agreed today to authorize the payment of $50,000 for the traveling expenses of the late Governor-General Leonard Wood "from respect to his memory." Previously the senate declared it would not approve the payment.

Avert Theatre Strike
Toronto, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—The threatened strike between musicians and a large number of local theatres has been averted. It was revealed, with the signing of new contracts between the musicians and the theatres, in which the employees secured approximately 55 per cent. of the salary increase demanded.

WRESTLER TO PLAY GORILLA IN FOX FILM

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 7.—Bull Montana, who boasts that he is the official monkey gorilla, what have you, in the movies, has a rival, George Kotsonaris, champion wrestler and Jack Dempsey, will play an African gorilla in "Halo," about to be filmed by the Fox company.

And the Fox company makes no secret that "Halo" is somewhat of an experiment in that it is a very story with a Sherlock Holmes angle, based on Gaston Leroux's well-known novel.

This type of motion picture plot is always more or less difficult to screen. Yet, Edmund Lowe, who played a French scientist interested in the theory of evolution, carried away by the Leroux play that he has cut short his vacation to return to Hollywood to discuss possibilities with Richard Rosson, the director.

Edmund Lowe and his wife, Lilyan Tashman, by the by, have gone in somewhat strongly this past year for society. I might say they have been accepted by the polo players crowd of Santa Barbara, Los Angeles and other California resorts.

They were vacationing at Del Monte when word came that "Halo" had been chosen as Mr. Lowe's next starring vehicle. June Collyer draws the leading feminine role. Yet she is a newcomer at least one who is yet to make her name in the movies.

If Napoleon had only known what interesting movie material his career was destined to make, I feel certain he would have left more complete records of his own amours and deeds as well as the love affairs of those who made up his court.

The Warner Company has elected to film "Glorious Betsy," Rita Johnson Young's stage play laid in the time of the little general. With other stars, Dolores Costello, Warner's popular and beautiful star, could do justice to this story.

At any rate Dolores gets the credit for being cast as the heroine, with Alan Croshaw as her director.

THE League of Nations, which Foster J. Brady, labor bank president, says should provide good comedy, and which I am sure is meant to provide serious drama is to be the subject of a motion picture. Of course at this time I cannot tell what is in Irving Thalberg's mind, but I am reasonably sure Irving knows what he wants.

At any rate he is sending Dorothy Farnum, Dolores Costello abroad to get additional data and to see that certain exterior scenes are photographed in Paris. Miss Farnum is now en route for New York on her way to Paris. Perhaps when she gets here she will explain more in detail what Irving Thalberg intends doing with the League of Nations.

AGAIN the persuasive tongue of Harry Cohen has been doing a little missionary work. Ben Turpin married a year or so ago and stated at that time that he had made his fortune and that he was through with motion pictures.

Now comes word from one of my playmates in California that Ben has signed a contract with Columbia Pictures and will play the comedy relief in the "College Hero." Ben should be a good foil for Pauline Kael and Bobby Acquisti the other principals. Anyway his contract with Columbia is another proof that Ben of the movies is strong.

BASEBALL SYSTEM MAKES

Big Squad Answers First Grid Call at the Heights; Prospects Bright

By STEPHEN CHANDLER

The day has passed when "Major" Cavannah, or just plain "Cav", was synonymous with Boston College football; a new name is bandied about the Heights now and a new voice barks at the Maroon and Gold football prospects.

Leo Bailey, who has been on the Boston team and the New England team, is the new coach. He gave his pupils their first lesson in the new system of football as a coach, and he was not only a good teacher but a good disciplinarian. He was not only a good teacher but a good disciplinarian.

The first opportunity to ride with the new coach was on the day when he was in the city. He was not only a good teacher but a good disciplinarian.

FIRST WORKOUT SIFF.

It was a hot, sunny first day of the new season. The first workout was a success. The new coach was not only a good teacher but a good disciplinarian.

As the day went on, the prospects were bright. The new coach was not only a good teacher but a good disciplinarian.

YANKEES' HOME RUN TWINS LAUGH AT FENWAY BARRIERS

ALL RECORDS FOR DISTANCE HITTING WERE BROKEN when Babe Ruth put the ball far over the center field fence down by the flagpole at Fenway Park. According to the diagram, this history-making clout did not travel as far as the two succeeding drives, which proves that even the camera sometimes "lies". It was the first of three four-baggers the Bambino knocked out during the twin-bill. Just to show he was still in the race, Lou Gehrig also added a circuit drive to his credit.

Lou Gehrig, left, and Babe Ruth, right, are having a great fight for home run honors but they are the friends of the other. Gehrig went out ahead of his rival when he made his 45th but then Babe started and knocked out three.

JACK JOHNSON, STRIBLING AND DIEBEL IN JAIL. LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 7.—I decided to cut short my training period for the rest of this week. There probably will be only one workout before Saturday.

CALLAHAN RES AT SARANAC. New York, Sept. 7.—Samuel Holzman, who fought under the name of Frankie Callahan, died at Loomis' Sanatorium, Liberty, N. Y., according to word received at his home in Brooklyn. Holzman died of a lingering illness following a severe attack of pneumonia. He was thirty-two years old.

COOLIDGE INVITED TO BOAT RACES. Washington, Sept. 7 (A.P.)—President Coolidge has been invited to view the President's cup motorboat race on the Potomac River, Sept. 16 and 17, and to present the trophy, named for his office, to the winner. Besides the President's cup race, the motorboat spectators will compete for the Dodge memorial trophy.

FINNEGAN
NOW AFTER
CROWNHis 10 Round Win Over Herman Puts Him in Line for Morgan Bout

By JACK CONWAY

Big Dan Carroll today pointed out the way for Finnegan to work a bout with Ted Morgan for the world's junior lightweight championship. Carroll's new campaign was inspired by the fact that Finnegan easily defeated Babe Herman in their ten-round tussle at an Arzonette A. A. show at Braves Field.

It was Finnegan's first fight start as junior lightweight. In the previous campaign here, he scored 124 points for a title shot. All the way through the fight, he was in the line of the world's junior lightweight champion. He was in the line of the world's junior lightweight champion. LET AUTHORITIES STOP BICKERING AND EXAMINE FACTS

There is altogether, now, too much snap judgment in this garter. Let's see. What are the facts? The above chart (horizontal) shows that crime does not pay. While the upright line shows that Harold Bell Wright's latest novel is outselling the City Ordinances and Traffic regulations two to one. Two to one, mind you. And yet there are those who say the radio has not come to stay.

MAURINE ANSWERS PLEA OF HER "FOSILMAN"

Maurine had spent a sleepless night trying to decide what to tell the English Baron. From cause to effect. She arose and pecked away through the love letters. "There was the Baron, still sitting on the front steps waiting for his answer. His hat was over his left eye and a letter of thanks was revealed that he had been there all night. Hearing Maurine, he turned, looked at her, and gave her a shy wink.

Then the Baron spoke. And asked me for my answer. All in vain. I strove for strength to utter that my mind dictated. Moments rolled away. Until at last my timid heart awoke and forced my trembling lips to say him nay.

And then my eyes with sudden tears began. In pity for myself and for this man who stood before me, lost in pain.

Four old Baron. His lip quivered. His Adam's apple fluttered pathetically. Heavily he heaved through his nostrils for a breath, but he could find none, although he pulled many curious things from his pockets and dropped them listlessly to the floor—half a dozen spoons and forks, a rabbit, a copy of "What a Boy of Nineteen Should Be," a box of soap, a mousetrap, a half-melted chocolate almond and several little "garters." Maurine turned and then—

THE BEST JOKE I EVER HEARD

The Boston Evening American will pay $1 for "Best Joke"

Children Cry For

Why Castoria?

Years ago Castor Oil, Purgative, Drops and Soothing-Syrups were the remedies in common use for Infants and Children. Castor Oil so nauseating as to be almost impossible and others all containing Opium in one form or another, but soiled as to make them pleasant to the taste, yet really to stupefy the child and give the appearance of relief from pain.

It required years of research to find a purely vegetable combination that would take the place of these disagreeable, unpleasant and vicious remedies that from habit had become almost universal. This was the inception of, and the reason for, the introduction of Fletcher's Castoria, and for over 30 years it has proven its worth, received the praise of Physicians everywhere and become a household word among mothers.

A remedy ESPECIALLY prepared for Infants and Children and no mother would think of giving to her baby a remedy that she would use for herself, without consulting a physician.

Published Address "Best Joke," Boston Evening American. "Just think, Aunt Lill, my husband had a headache and I gave him a dose of Castoria and he was all right in ten minutes." Now, my dear child, you can do better groceries on that contraption. ALICE THOMPSON, No. 88 Chestnut Street, Lowell.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, verily, my Daughter, by her HAIR-CUT shall you know a man.

For behold, the bachelor sauteh a "man" that is correct, but the married man sauteh a close-cut that will LAST, even though it come late in the hair-cut. Passions may doth he urge the tonsorial artist to brush carefully from East to West, for the hairs of his head are indeed numbered and catalogued.

To the College Youth callth he upbraided and myrrh and much "dressing," 'He improvethe barbe to "train" his locks "in the day" and he reveleth in a high polish and neatness for a patent-leather shoe.

But the wretched man demandeth the latest wrinkle, and trusteth he out a 1927 model, even while he doth all his attention to the blonde man's hair.

Behold, a lover consulteth his sweetheart's preference, and sauteh to have his hair cut in the style which it best. But a married man findeth out first how his wife lieth it and then hath it cut the OTHER way.

For this is his favorite method of asserting his independence.

Thus, every woman demandeth a symbol of his wife's power.

MEDBURY SAYS--

By JOHN P. MEDBURY

A RECENT census shows that there are over ten million flappers in America. What this country needs is more good old-fashioned girls, the kind who wouldn't sit on your lap until they knew your name.

THOSE are the happy days when the branch of promise business was a new industry.

AND heart didn't come in flasks.

IT'S too bad we can't bring back the girls who used to be satisfied with their own sweethearts.

THAT was the good old generation when one man would last a girl all evening.

IF THOSE days when a fellow bought a sprig of mistletoe he wasn't wasting his money.

IF IT brought him a couple of hugs he was satisfied with the investment.

ONE was a whole meal and no man dared to come back for a second helping.

THE modern girl thinks nothing of sitting on your lap while she picks a fight with you.

NECKING is a passion, and she certainly knows her gallois.

ONE man says he never rides to town with his fiancée because he hates to sit in the snuffer.

OF COURSE, some girls are still retiring, but most of them are retiring about a mile.

MISS ELEANOR LYNCH, 345 Beaconplace Street, Chicago.

RADIO-DIALOG

THIS week marks the end of Summer programs and the beginning of the annual improvement in better programs. Power will be increased, and the quality of the programming will be improved. In the next month will be the addition of the Columbia chain, the Duncans crew, National Radio Day and night, the Boston Radio-Aero show and the beginning of the permanent national broadcasts.

Listeners are beginning to grope the antenna for better signals. There must get the coast in order to exist are buying new batteries, tubes, and making repairs.

Every Saturday night finds thousands of thousands of listeners tuning the radio to a very late hour. More often than not they are rewarded with the thrill of distant stations.

The day on which plauding listeners to buy radio sets which were good reproducing instruments a man walked in with a five-year old set to repair. After explaining we were not the university, and repair men we tried to persuade him that an imported radio would produce better music. But it was impossible.

CLASSICS ON MAXWELL

A selection of light musical comedies of classical music, will be heard during the Maxwell House hour tonight from WIGZA-WIG. Opening with a Beethoven Minuet, the program will include selections such as Handel's "Largo," Liszt's "Thousandth No. 2," Bach's "Air on the G String," Tchaikovsky's "Jase" and other numbers representative of the lighter music of the composers.

THE Iona Troubadours, who are carrying on the traditions of the old-time troubadours. While the popular conception of troubadours is that of singers with guitars, the Iona Troubadours act really had it being singing. Accordingly, the Iona Troubadours have arranged a program of dancing. The Iona Troubadours beginning at 8 o'clock from WEEI.

EASIER in the evening comes the Animal House talk from WMAZ. Starting at 7:30 o'clock, 30 minutes will be devoted to varied entertainment.

3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.

4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

tentment blessed them all, for daily
 as they passed they sang; by night their camps with laughter rang.
